Join the Better Government Movement

The Better Government Movement was officially launched with a series of human-centered design workshops in March 2017. Throughout 2017 the Community of Practice will collectively build a toolkit and create strategies to amplify and evangelize innovation across the federal government.

Innovation.gov and the Better Government Movement is a crowdsourced, open source movement brought to you by the General Services Administration, and built by hundreds of innovators across the Federal government.

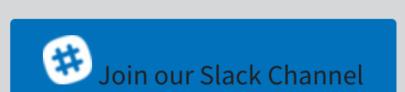

We're from the government, and we're here to help.
